Start Drive For Funds To Aid Blind

The annual campaign to raise funds for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was launched in Newmarket and district on April 21.

The campaign here is under the sponsorship of the Newmarket and District advisory committee with Mrs. J. E. Morris as chairman. Contributions of $1 or more are acknowledged by an official receipt which may be used in claiming income tax exemption.

Most of us know that blind people are independent, and like to do as much as they can for themselves. The Institute encourages this and develops special services that will lead the blind to more and more independence all the time.

The research department of the C.N.I.B. has adapted appliances and gadgets usually requiring sight so that they can be used by blind people. The needle threader that permits the blind housewife to thread her own needles, enables her to sew whenever she pleases, not merely when a sighted person is near to thread the needle for her.

The ordinary foot ruler, so handy in the cellar, used by most men a dozen times a week, would be denied to the blind were it not for C.N.I.B. research. Braille markings were placed at the inch and half-inch intervals allowing the handyman to continue his manual arts under the handicap of blindness.

These devices are simple to tell about, but they took keen concentration to develop and many frustrating mistakes before they were truly practical.

This type of equipment is a wonderful help to the blind person. To know that by using a special gadget he can do a piece of work as well as he ever could is an encouragement in itself.

When you contribute to C. N. I. B., you make this research possible. Nor is this all that you do. Your money sends teachers to the homes of the blind to teach Braille. Your money establishes men and women as managers of canteens, and you support the prevention of blindness program. That is why yo uare urged to be as generous as possible this year.

TYPING, REGISTRATION STARTED FOR BLOOD BANK

Fred Taylor was one of the first persons in Newmarket to be typed and registered for the new "walking" blood bank for York County hospital. Typing was started on Monday night and the Newmarket Blood Bank committee hopes to complete a registration of 200 within eight weeks. Volunteers have not been calling in sufficient numbers yet and a plea is sent out for more donors. Typing will continue tonight and every Monday and Thursday from 7.30 p.m. on. Persons wishing to become members of the bank are asked to call 815 for a typing and registration appointment on one of these evenings. With 200 on the list, donors would not be asked to give blood more than once a year. Dr. J. G. Cock, committee chairman, is taking a blood sample for typing from Mr. Taylor's arm. Nurse Mrs. R. J. Rogers looks on. Era and Express photo

Light Vote Taken In District On Marketing Scheme For Eggs

The voting on the proposed marketing scheme for eggs, which was held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, was reported to be extremely light in this district. Results of the province-wide vote are expected to be released from Toronto within the next week.

The light vote was said to be reflected across the province. Sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture, the vote was taken under the provincial farm products marketing act. It would, if it carries, clear the way for the establishment of an egg marketing scheme by producers which would give them control of the marketing of their eggs.

The vote was sought as a worsening export situation indicated a growing surplus of eggs with a resulting reduced domestic prices. Poultry men are cut off from U.K. markets because of the international exchange situation, and exports are well down to the United States because of growing domestic production there.

There was no indication of how the vote would go. Generally, a high majority is required to establish a marketing scheme because of the widespread effect on farm practices. In view of the light vote, suporters of the scheme are not optimistic. While an unmarket ballot does not mean a "no" ballot, as in other votes, the fact that so few poultry growers voted will count strongly in the final decision.

Many poultry men confessed an ignorance of the exact workings of the marketing scheme although organizers of the vote have held many meetings to discuss the marketing scheme There was some outright opposition to the scheme but the majority of the potential voters seemed apathetic to the effort on their behalf.

York North To Lose South End?

There's a good chance that the federal riding of York North is going to lose part of its south end in the forthcoming re-distribution. Two new federal ridings are indicated for the area outside Toronto and there is every likelihood that one of them will be made up of the south and parts of York North, and parts of York South.

York North is represented by J. E. Smith, Richmond Hill, for the Liberals, and York South is represented by J. W. Noseworthy, for the C.C.F.

York North has a population of 122,000, York South a population of 92,258.

The federal ridings are reshuffled according to population every ten years, following the census. The federal committee which will preside over the redistribution has already been appointed with Walter Harris, minister for citizenship, as chairman, but has not yet met.

FEDERATION UNIT ORGANIZED IN KING TOWNSHIP

A King township unit of the Federation of Agriculture was organized at Nobleton community hall on Tuesday, April 15, under the chairmanship of W. J. Glass, 6th line, as chairman, Frank Beatty, Kettleby, and William Groombridge of Schomberg, 1st and 2nd vice chairmen, and Ivan Specht, King, treasurer.

"The Federation of Agriculture is the mouthpiece of the farmer and advises the provincial and federal departments of agriculture," declared Mr. Buchanan. The single unit has representation on the county board, which in turn is carried through to the provincial and national federations.

At a meeting at the home of Mr. Glass on Monday night, it was decided that the board function until the end of the year with the addition of Ross Elliott, Aubrey Glass and Bert Palmer.

Municipal Men Fail To Agree On Sharing Special $11,000 Grant

Representatives of municipal councils in North York, from Vaughan to Georgina township, gathered at East Gwillimbury township hall, Sharon, on Monday night to discuss their obligations to York County hospital. Although discussions dragged on for three hours, they did not agree on a recommendation to share on an $11,000 grant to offset the hospital's $60,000 debt problem.

There was criticism and praise about the operation of the only hospital in North York. All agreed that the hospital must not be closed because of its financial problems. A few suggested a recommendation to all councils to accept a proportionate grant; some tried to think of alternatives but it was left for each representative to go home and discuss it with his council.

While seeking alternative sources of aid, reeves and deputies complained bitterly about the low grants from the provincial government. The meeting passed a resolution by Reeve Norman Doyle, North Gwillimbury and Stanley Osborne, East Gwillimbury, that a petition be sent to the provincial government for larger hospital grants, with special regard to indigent and public ward patients.

The hospital's most outspoken critic, Reeve Elton Armstrong, King, complained about the basis on which the hospital had asked councils to share. Their share of the $11,000 was to be in proportion to the number of patients they sent to hospital.

"The basis is wrong to start with. I think it should be the number of patient days," he said.

" With an $11,000 loss, I think there must be something wrong with the management of the hospital," continued Mr. Armstrong. "And I have been told that since this hospital board was set up, it's been closed doors, a sort of dictatorship and even the doctors are not asked to the meetings; only at the end of the year is anyone invited to attend.

"I think the board is trying to do the best it can but somewhere there is something over which the board has no control," he said. "As for the $9 a day cost per patient, I think there is something wrong with the management when you consider this hospital was given by donations."

Replying to the King township reeve's criticisms, K. M. R. Stiver, chairman of the hospital board said, "I know the hospital can't be made to pay . . . But it should give service to the poor as well as the rich. In many cases, patients lose their earning power when they are sick and in hospital. Maybe our policy has been wrong; maybe we should have raised our rates more.

"Of course I deny that the hospital is not managed properly," he continued. "The doctors have always had a representative on the board and as to Mr. Armstrong's charge that the board is a closed corporation, I certainly deny that. There have always been published notices before every meeting. Books are audited by the best accountants in Ontario.

"We are doing everything we can to keep costs down but remember that a hospital requires three shifts. A nurse can't work more than eight hours a day and for other members of the staff, we are in the labor market as much as anyone else."

He pointed out that the hospital costs per patient day of over $9 were average. Figures from other hospitals show that cost ranges from $8.75 per day up to $17 and $18 a day. The hospital for sick children, heavily endowed, has a patient day cost of $16 or $17, Mr. Stiver said.

Reeve Ivan McMurchy of Vaughan township said he thought that the day rate should be raised for patients to offset the debt. There was strong opposition to the suggestion. Cecil Prosser, North Gwillimbury councillor, said that the working man is paying enough as it is.

"If you raise the rates, people will give up trying to pay and go indigent," warned Reeve Arthur D. Evans, Newmarket.

"What guarantee is there that we won't have to pay another $11,000 next year?" Councillor McCarron, Whitchurch. "The hospital is in debt and it looks as if it is still going in debt."

Mr. Stiver said he could give no assurance that it wouldn't continue to go in debt. "I don't know what the future holds and the costs are still going up. We have raised our rates slightly and with grants, I think we can break even this year."

Reeve Elton Armstrong said, "I think we should wait until the June sessions of county council where we can do something for all these hospitals. Maybe we can find a way for paying not only the $11,000 but the whole $60,000."

Reeve Jack Rye, East Gwillimbury, said that the county was going to be asked for $189,000 for grants to other hospitals in Toronto.

"How will we get anything from the county when its budget is already set?" asked Reeve Evans of Newmarket. "The county is giving over $200,000 to hospitals in its budget now."

Councillor William King, North Gwillimbury, said that after all the discussion, there was only one thing to do, that was to go home and discuss the problem "with your councils and do whatever you think best about a grant."

through the competent and thoughtful services of TCA employees. Letting the audience in by the backdoor, it showed how the TCA works, telling of the background and training of their pilots. As well as being interesting and instructive, "Mr. Barnaby" was very amusing. Travelogues of Vancouver and Bermuda were then shown.

Mrs. Caroline Edwards introduced Miss Day and Mrs. Alice Janes thanked her on behalf of the group for her delightful program. Miss Sutton, assistant superintendent of York County hospital, was welcomed to the club as a new member. She was introduced by the membership convener, Mrs. Nora Crowder.

TICKETS GO FAST AS LIONS READY 4TH MINSTREL SHOW

Proof of the enduring quality of the Newmarket Lions Minstrel shows is the way in which tickets are selling for the fourth annual show in the town hall on April 29 and 30, and May 1 and 2. All indications are that the current show will be the sell-out that its predecessors were.

Under the direction of Alex Eves, with music by Bill Greig, this year's minstrels are presenting an entirely new show with the addition of a number of new stars. Ernie Crossland and Dick Hilliard are new end men, sharing duties with the stars of other years, Jack Luesby and Eugene McCaffrey.

Soloists this year include two newcomers to the show, Bill Vallance and Tommy Scott. Back for their fourth shows are Charles Boyd and Terry Doan. Alex Eves serves again as interlocutor.

The shows are made up entirely of local casts and many of the situations burlesque town and district individuals and circumstances.

The proceeds of the show will be used by the Lions in their welfare work.

'ERRORS SOMETIMES QUITE LARGE'

Observations Of Jet Vapor Trail Varied

In the early afternoon on Monday there appeared in the brilliant, blue sky over Newmarket, long streaks which looked like chalk marks on a blackboard.

At 12.45 the Era and Express news editor had seen them while he was eating his lunch and concluded that he seen the vapor trail of a high flying jet plane which flew south and then turned east. The plane was so high, nearly seven miles, it could not be seen, only an odd reflection of the sun.

At 1.15 the sports editor called the Era and Express office and said, "Is that a flying saucer out there beside my window?" The editor ran out the front door, skinned his knee on an oak desk on the way out and saw another white streak like a chalk line, it was being drawn across the sky towards the south west.

The entire office staff was hanging out the doors and windows looking for "flying saucers."

At 1.30 an unidentified man phoned the office and asked one of the girls, "What was that that flew over?"

"A jet plane," said the accountant.

"It couldn't have been a jet," said the man, undoubtedly with saucers on his mind. "It went right over my house low at 500 feet and it didn't have a motor. Couldn't hear a thing and smoke was coming out of it.

The sports editor phoned back and said, "Did you see it?"

Fed up with hearsay, the editor phoned Malton airport, asked what was flying over Newmarket.

"Did it fly south towards us, turn and head north-east again?" said a control tower official.

"Yes."

"That's a Sabre jet flying at 35,000 feet. Thank you very much. Goodbye."

These events question the reliability of observations of the ordinary man on the street, those other than trained scientific observers. Woodworth's fourth edition of "Psychology" says, "Experience is necessary and individuals differ greatly in the accuracy of their estimates . . . Constant errors are sometimes quite large, and they themselves vary with the conditions."

There were reports of people seeing clusters of amber lights flying in formation over Toronto on the weekend. Observers, supposedly reliable, saw what they said to be a ship travelling at a thousand miles an hour over Toronto, London and Detroit. The amber lights were reported to be navigation lights from a transport plane and the thousand mile-an-hour ship proved to be a British Canberra jet bomber on a speed run from Ottawa to Omaha. It's unnofficial top speed is supposed to be around 600 m.p.h.

Of course, there could be flying saucers.

For more about saucers, read the editorial page of the Era and Express, also for a first hand interview with a "little man" who stepped from a flying saucer, read The Office Cat Reports, page four.

HISTORY OF BELHAVEN

By Mrs. Lloyd Kay

The following history, in two parts, is taken from a paper by Mrs. Kay which was read before Belhaven Women's Institute.

Free Methodists

The Free Methodist church, which occupies the most southerly part of Belhaven, was moved from Orman Willoughby's farm in 1928. This church was placed on skids, and an attempt was made to move it by use of teams, but was unsuccessful. Then by use of block and cable the church was brought through the fields to Lorne Holborn's. Across the road, down in front of Erwin Winch's house, behind Ralph Weddell's barn, and behind the village to its present location. Neighbors and church members united to make this project successful. Free Methodism was introduced in the district by an evangelist, Miss Nancy Shantz, and carried on successfully by such families as the John Ryes, the Arnolds, the Travisses, the Arkseys, Willoughbys and Drapers.

The parsonage was a driving house, purchased and moved from the farm where Ramsay Weddell now lives. It was remodelled into the present parsonage.

The Public School

One of the most important things in a child's life is the school he attends, and Belhaven school has occupied an important place. The first Belhaven school was located on Mr. Kydd's farm, west of the house then owned by John Morton. One of the first teachers was Miss Fischer, who later became Ivan Mann's step-mother. A new school was built where the present one now stands. It would be really interesting to hear what that old school could reveal if only it could talk.

I would like to give a little history of Bethel church, because it seems so closely related to Belhaven. At first it was an Episcopal Methodist, then a Wesleyan, and finally a Methodist church. The building had long wooden benches and the men sat on the left and the women on the right.

Mr. Simpson Horner, father of Thomas and Duke Horner, sat in the very front seat and started the hymns by means of a tuning fork; as there was no organ. The season the foundation was put under the church was rainy. Ellis Sheppard held an umbrella over the masons and boarded them for nothing. Some of the pioneer supporters of that church were the Tomlinsons, Sheppards, Huntleys, Horners, Dafoes and Drapers.

Telephone System

The telephone system must not be overlooked. At one time in Sutton there were three switchboards, one owned by the Bell Telephone company, a direct line to Toronto; Dr. Greenwood's switchboard with two lines, one to Pefferlaw, and one down the sixth to Ravenshoe; and the Independent line, which was owned by the subscribers and had six lines. It cost about $6.00 a year. If subscribers to the Independent line wished to make a long distance call, they had to pay the Bell Telephone Co. a rental. The first central was operated by Mrs. Cross. Later Duncan King and Dick Sturtridge bought the Independent line. About 1917 the Bell Telephone bought them out for $11,000.

Picnics were very popular in those days. The property just this side of Roche's Point was known as the Morton Park, and many were the picnics held there. Many an excursion was taken from Roche's Point and Jackson's Point by means of an old steamboat called Emily May. These boats were the only means of getting freight to Beaverton, Sutton, and Roche's Point. The goods would go by train to Belle Ewart, then were ferried across the lake to various points.

The first mail route was driven by horse from Newmarket to Beaverton by Harry Sennett. He lived in the house now occupied by Mrs. O. Smith, and would change horses there.

Pioneer Life

I would like to relate a few things just to illustrate what pioneering really was. When Mr. Thomas Huntley married, the baseline was only a trail. If people wished to go to Sutton, they came down the sixth and in by the catering road.

When Harry Ardill's father settled on the baseline in 1848, the closest school was Belhaven. When Richard Sheppard settled over on the place where John Thompson lives, there were no roads, schools, churches, or other elements of civilization.

When Tommy Glover came to Canada and settled in 1845 near Ravenshoe, the roads were cowpaths, and the nearest mill was at Newmarket.

In closing I shall include a few facts which have been handed down from generation to generation. In Mr. Bernard Huntley's possession is the old Crown Deed of his farm, written on sheepskin parchment in 1804, in pounds, shillings and pence.

Mrs. Carl Morton has in her possession a tea set 150 years old, complete except for one cup and saucer. Mr. Elijah Prosser, Cecil Prosser's grandfather, had the first binder. The author's grandfather, Joseph Davidson, built the first barn with a stone foundation in North Gwillimbury, some 70 years ago.

The Ben Johnston house on the fourth was the first two-storey building in this district.

Mr. Hill drove the first car from Toronto to Roche's Point. John Johnston, one of the first to have a car in these parts, purchased it for $600.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Davidson drove from Belhaven to Jersey with the horse and buggy for their wedding trip and stayed at the old hotel there.

Mr. Duncan King, who lived where Wm. Anderson now lives, had the first electric lighting plant. He installed a Delco system.

Thus it is by this pioneering spirit that North Gwillimbury, and particularly Belhaven, was founded.

EXPLOSION IN MINIATURE! It happens frequently these days in the Montreal plant where Sabre jets are made. Worker is using explosive rivets on a wing section. Developed by the chemical industry to speed up riveting operations, especially in hard-to-get-at places, they contain a tiny explosive charge which fastens the rivet when fired.

SUPER-SOFTNESS is a "must" in everything that touches baby's tender skin. For bath-time, mothers find that C-I-L Cellulose Sponges are just the thing — wonderfully soft and absorbent. Available in smart colours — blue, green, coral, yellow and natural.

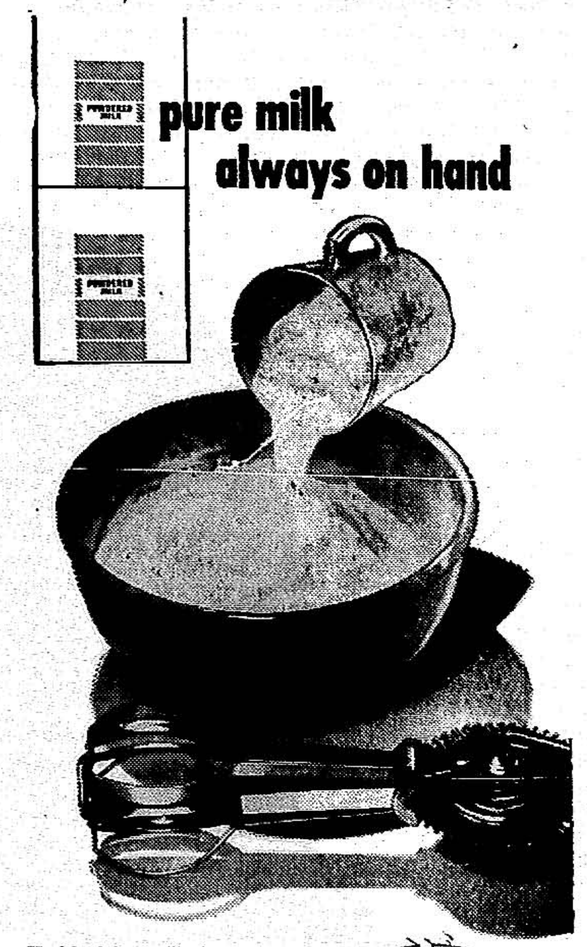

SWEETENING UP the air under sinks is done differently today. The modern homemaker's helper is the aerosol — a new type of package that dispenses deodorants, fly-sprays, paints, shave-cream just by pressing a button "Freon" is the chemical propellent that makes this handy method possible.

Did you know?

C-I-L products are making mighty contributions to Canada's air defence. In addition to explosive rivets for the F-86E Sabre, chemicals, nylon, "Cellophane", play a vital role.

Charter members of the East Gwillimbury Town Line Smelt, Chowder and Marching Society held their annual meeting on Monday night, a meeting which extended until milking time the next morning. Present were Sheldon "Try over there, boys" Walker, Bill "Leaky Boots" Bales, Allan "Cigars" Balsdon, Harry "Didja hear this one" Walker and John "Pencils" Meyer, recording secretary.

The occasion was the annual smelt run along the Georgian Bay shore and the date was set after some considerable consultation with the Fisherman's Guide and Moon and Tide Tables.

The meeting got underway with a motion moved by Walker and seconded by Walker that the society dip its nets in a little known cove at Victoria Harbor where it was said the smelts were so eager to be caught that they were piled up in layers on the beach. But when the society reached the little known cove, the traffic was so thick the Provincials were out in their waders. Also the smelt for some unknown reason had decided not to wait and had gone away somewhere.

Your scribe did, however, manage to snare one smelt and with it safely tucked away in a bushel basket, safe although lonely, the society adjourned to the Sturgeon River where refreshments were served but still no smelt were found.

After sounding the banks of the Sturgeon, where Mr. Balsdon caught one smelt, making a grand total of two fish, the society threw away its copies of the Fisherman's Guide and Moon and Tide Tables (they can be found by the big rock under the Sturgeon River bridge) and consulted a local youth who after some persuasion agreed to lead the society to where the smelts were sure to be running.

The weary but game little caravan went forth from Duffy's Diner with renewed hope, took the road to Honey Harbor and after much winding over rocks, abandoned smelt nets and abandoned fishermen, arrived on the shores of the Severn where the smelt were indeed runnning. The only trouble was that the best fishing was from an island of rock and muck and between the island and the bank of the river, the water level rose higher than the members' boots.

Mr. Bales had the only pair of waders on and he gallantly agreed to ferry the other members over the creek. Messrs. Baldsdon and Meyer scorned such safe tactics and splashed across on their own. In Meyer's case, it didn't matter because the water ran out of a hole in the toe of the boot as fast as it came in. Balsdon, however, daintily dried his feet before putting them back into his wet boots.

On the island, the members baled manfully and after much effort, succeeded in filling a bucket of smelts and with dawn hinting at an early appearance, eventually betook themselves home. After reviving the fish in the mud-holes on an East Gwillimbury sideroad, division was made and the boys dispersed.

Something new has been added to the usual spring sightings of first robins, first daffodils, etc., with reports that on Sunday, the "1000-miles-per-hour mystery plane" was seen north and east of Newmarket.

The mystery plane was reported to have streaked over the northern horizon of western Ontario shortly before noon leaving an extensive vapor trail. Planes of the City of London Squadron which were aloft at the time were ordered to intercept the strange craft but although travelling in excess of 450 mph, they were unable to come near the unidentified aircraft.

We saw a Vampire jet to the north about the time of our informant's sighting but he insists that what we saw was no jet. It was travelling too fast and he described it as a dark, cylindrical shaped object.

(A later report had it that the mystery plane was Britain's new jet bomber, the Canberra, which is capable of extraordinary speeds. The bomber was on its way to Omaha.)

Down Toronto way on Sunday night, there were reports of dim orange lights flying in formation over the city. They were judged to be at a great height and there were some 50 or 60 of them.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

APRIL 22, 1927

A small army of girls willingly solicited the sale of violets last Saturday, and succeeded in collecting $195.37, which shows the people are in sympathy with the continuance of the hospital in Newmarket.

A most delightful dance and social evening took place at the King George Hotel on Thursday, the 14th, when Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Lewis entertained the junior hockey team and invited guests to the number of about 70.

The radial cars were well patronized on Sunday.

Last Sunday was an ideal spring day. The autos were humming, especially in the afternoon. A large number took a trip to the lake.

Town council: Some discussion took place as to the menace of dogs and cats roaming about the gardens, uprooting bulbs and seeds, and discouraging the citizens, and also opening garbage cans.

Belhaven: April flowers are as beautiful as ever.

Egypt: The weather is still more spring-like and the frogs are singing once again their old familiar chorus.

Sutton West: Our students attending college in the city were home for the Easter holidays.

APRIL 25, 1902

The farmer will soon be the busiest man on earth.

A great many people visited the cemetery last Sunday and many of the graves were decorated with cut flowers.

The walks and entrances to St. Paul's church are undergoing extensive repairs this week.

Baldwin: Fall wheat on low ground is looking fine and green.

Zion Corners: Some of our young people are very proficient in the art of making kites.

The Doan house on Queen St., adjoining Mrs. Geo. Lundy's, is having a new woodshed added to it.

The entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church, at the town hall on Friday night, was very successful.

Toronto: A further advance in the retail price of meat within a few days is now expected. Another meeting of the butchers will be held next week.

Keswick: Reception service in the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Over 20 united with the church. Rev. Mr. Simpson's sermon was an able and very appropriate one for the occasion.

Miss Kelty of Newmarket has recently been appointed teacher of the Holt school.

OPERATION CEASE FIRE

POULTRY MARKETING VOTE

The vote on the poultry marketing organization which was held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week, appears to have been quite light, in this district at least. What the outcome of the vote will be is still unsettled but there is initial disappointment for the vote's organizers in the small number of poultry growers who marked their ballots.

It is difficult to understand just why the vote was so light. The poultry grower is facing an uncertain future. Egg prices are not as high as they should be and with a heavy surplus in the making, there is no chance that they will improve. The poultry marketing organization offered a chance to improve that situation but comparatively few took advantage of it.

Marketing organizations are by no means the perfect answer to the farmer's need for orderly marketing methods and greater control over his product. The biggest fault of group marketing schemes, whether for eggs, milk or hogs, is the compulsion inherent in them. But as imperfect as they may be, such schemes represent the only way so far advanced by which the producer can improve marketing conditions.

It is possible that the full significance of the poultry marketing organization escaped the producers. An effort was made to reach all producers through group meetings under the sponsorship of the Federation of Agriculture, through press statements and advertisements. But as is the case in most such efforts, the missionary work evolved upon the shoulders of a few and they simply couldn't reach the many. We think, too, that there was a good deal of misunderstanding about the organization; all of these could have contributed to the light vote.

But while they may have caused a light vote, they do not excuse it. If the poultry business is in such parlous straits as the figures would indicate, there is no excuse for any poultry raiser not to have made the effort to acquaint himself with the issues involved in the vote. He was offered a proposition which could have helped him. If he chooses now to ignore it, he has little excuse indeed for wanting assistance six months from now should the poultry business really break down.

CHANGE IN ROLES

The farmers have long suspected that their political influence was slowly waning. At one time, their numbers were sufficiently large that a politician thought twice before he made a move that might displease the farm population. Nowadays, there is no second thinking—of any sort, political or rational. The politicians just go ahead in the direction which pleases the most with results like the recent milk fiasco in Toronto.

But if there was any doubt about where the farmer stands, that doubt is dispelled by the census figures which show that in the last 50 years or so, the ratio of rural dwellers to urban dwellers has just about reversed itself. A half a century ago, the farmer led over the city man by six to four. Today, it's the city man over the farmer by the same number.

There are several reasons for the change, none of them particularly happy. The growth of industry with its comparatively better working conditions is a major cause. There are other reasons but they pale before the appetite of the cities for foot-loose farm folk, or those who are just plain discouraged with dawn to dusk labor at a pauper's payment.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT . . .

Now that "things in the air" (apart from jet planes showing vapor trails) have been reported in Canada with reasonably reliable veracity, Canadians are generally prepared to concede that there is some thing to it, that there just might be visitations from space. The government is presumed to know a good deal more than it is telling and so is now coming under fire for not issuing news releases and generally letting the public in on the secret.

After witnessing the mass excitement over the appearance south of Newmarket of a jet plane vapor trail on Monday, we are inclined to think it would be better for the government, if indeed it does know anything about flying saucers, little men from Mars, and like phenomena, to continue to keep its mouth shut.

It goes against the grain for a newspaper editor to advise silence but if a vapor trail can throw otherwise normal individuals into a tizzy, there would be no telling what might happen if the government were to announce that flying saucers are real and might be dropping around any day now for a visit, or to warn the citizenry to look twice, that may not be a fire-plug after all. It could be a man from Mars.

TAX COMPARISONS

Comparisons which have been made between Toronto's tax rate of 41.8 mills and Newmarket's rate of 61 mills are misleading. The mill rate means nothing, for purposes of comparison, unless the basis of assessment is also given. Newmarket, for example, assesses at only 50 percent of the value of a house, and full value of property. Toronto assesses a much higher proportion of the value of a house.

There is another form of comparison which is far more acceptable, the cost per capita of municipal operations. In Toronto, the current cost is $89.69. In Newmarket, the cost is around $52 per capita even though the Newmarket mill rate is almost 20 mills higher.

These figures expose another common fallacy, that the larger a municipality, the cheaper its operation. This belief is a product of the age of mass production which has demonstrated that the more units produced, the less the cost per unit. But while this may hold true for refrigerators and cars, it does not apply to municipal operations. The bigger the city, the more it costs each taxpayer. That fact is sufficient argument against encouraging growth of cities.

ENCROACHING AUTHORITY

In 1939, municipalities used to collect 30 cents of every tax dollar, the province 22 cents and the federal government 48 cents. Today, the municipalities collect 13 cents, the provinces 20 cents, and the federal government 67 cents. These figures represent a trend towards the centralization of government which is raising hob with our practice of self-government.

The increase in the federal government's share of the tax dollar is understandable with the growth of defence, subsidies, and welfare spending. The drop in the provincial portion of the tax dollar, in Ontario at least, is more than compensated for the increase in the number of tax dollars. It is the municipalities which are most seriously hurt. They are collecting more money than ever before but their requirements are exceeding their income to such a degree that without provincial aid, they'd founder.

In Newmarket, for example despite a record mill rate the province paid last year something like ten percent of the general taxes in the form of grants to various departments almost 25 percent of the public school costs, and over 55 percent of the high school costs. In 1951, the province paid out $86 millions in the form of grants to municipalities, and in 1952, paid out $99 millions. The current budget allows for municipal grants of $118 millions.

As necessary and as welcome as these payments are, it is a bad business for the municipalities to be placed in the position where they are so dependent upon provincial help. The province is obligated to retain some sort of control over the money given municipalities but in the process, it has encroached upon the authority of the municipal governments to such a degree that they no longer speak of their own minds.

This is the crux of the matter. The independence of local governments was a valued asset which contributed much towards making them the most effective form of self government which we possess. In truth, the local government is the corner-stone of democratic process. But with the weight of the province ever upon them, these local governments are losing the self-assertion and common sense which makes them so different from the larger and more complex provincial and federal governments.

Some form of tax reform is needed before local governments are erased completely. It would be, we imagine, a federal and provincial undertaking. And it would be a complex undertaking. But some measure must be taken to provide taxing powers for each level of government which will give them the funds they need within their own jurisdiction without aid from outside. The sooner the reform is undertaken, the better. The alternative is the loss of local self government and in its place, the centralized authority of the civil servant.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Long, jaunty, congenial Slim Bliggens returned today after making his own independent survey in the wastelands of New Mexico. Yes, it took a big man to find a little man for Slim Bliggens is reported to be the first to have interviewed one of the "little men".

"I shook hands with a little man," said Slim as he stepped off the plane at Maltanhops airport early this morning. "And then he was gone, completely disappeared in them wastes of New Mexico," he added to reporters. "Probably took off in another flyin' soccer."

As reports came in last week of 16 little men being found, unofficially, when they crashed in a flying saucer type airship in the southern States, Slim Bliggens, in the interests of science, decided to go down and see for himself.

It was reported that the little men were all dead, ranged from two to four feet in height and resembled humans. It was said that it would take six months of investigation by military and scientific people before we would hear whether they were from another planet or not.

Fraught with a strong urge to seek, to find and satisfy his scientific appetite for knowledge, Slim went to New Mexico to see for himself. "If them scientists is going to keep secrets, we'll jest have to find out ourselves," said Slim on his departure.

Back at his piano box mansion, your favorite correspondent learned much from the big man.

"I found him sittin' on a big rock cryin' into a cup of tea," related Slim. "Beside him was the wreckage of his flyin' soccer but his cosmo-radio was tuned into a local station, W.X.Q.B., 'the voice of Parched Gulch, New Mexico' on which was playin some top tunes of the day.

"He was listenin to 'Little White Clouds That Cry' and he was cryin' into his tea," said Slim.

"Little man, little white clouds, crying," I said.

"Yas," said Slim.

"What was this fellow's name; did he say?"

"Said it was Smith, only with a different accent than our'n," Slim said.

"What did he look like?"

"He was about three feet high and had big ears, a little round pug nose and wore sun glasses. He had funny lookin' clothes on and it was a funny thing, I noticed a cleaning and pressing tag on his pants that said Property of Olsen and Johnson Shows and that was something I couldn't figure out."

"That proves that he must have been out in Hollywood on one of his visits to earth," I said.

"Yeah, musta," said Slim.

"Tell me more about your first words," I said. "Was the little man surprised when he saw you?"

"Wall, he looked at me and took out his handkerchief and blew his nose. Then I offered him a Lucky Strike from out'n a carton I picked up in Phoenix. He took one, pulled out a Zippo lighter from his pocket, lit up, took a long inhale and made a generalization about the weather that day.

"He brewed me some tea out of a can with Lipton's on it and I asked him how the weather was on his trip. He said, 'On the way to earth it was a piece of cake; my automatic cosmo - navigator was bang-on and although it was a bit duff viz. with the area full of cosmic dust I had the situation taped for a hot landing. Then all of a sudden my port pipe conked and I pranged the ship on an outcropping of sandstone. And now look at the ship. Couldn't even trade it on a Model T.' That was the end of the conversation.

"Then did he disappear?" I asked.

"Yep. Jest when I had a bunch of scientific questions to ask him. He said, 'See you in the movies' and he was gone."

Slim Bliggens' report pretty well bears out the fact that there really are little men.

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

If we ask a farmer when he thinks seeding should be done, he will tell you, that as long as it is done in the first 10 days of May, he is happy. He will even tell you in the wintertime, that he isn't in any hurry and that he doesn't like to sow early. But when the warm weather explodes the way it did the last few days, all this philosophy is forgotten and there are only two kinds of farmers, those whose land is fit to work and those whose land is late and wet.

We often wonder what the value of early seeding is, or to put it in another way, what the penalty of late seeding would be. We have seen crops early that sort of stood there without growing while late seeding shot ahead of them. We have also seen early sown grain that came and stayed ahead the late grain all the way.

Rightly or wrongly, we think that the greatest value in the early seeding is the three weeks extra time that we have in the spring. There are a whole lot of little things we should do in the spring and some of them are forgotten if we have a backward spring. There is nothing more frustrating than to watch day after day the grass getting green and lush and while too much rain is holding us off the land.

So along with the rest of them, we gravely listen while some friend or neighbor holds forth about not wanting to sow too early and condemning early excitement, and then go home and try to work as much land as we can and as fast as we can.

There is one point which we will concede to the group that favors later seeding. And that is they are able to do their job more efficiently. There aren't the wet corners and spots to go around as in case of early seeding.

One of the greatest advantages of grassland farming is that the spring seeding is much smaller than it used to be. Years ago, it wasn't uncommon to have 70 acres of spring seeding on a well cleared 100 acres. With the advent of smut-free fall wheat and added emphasis on pastures and permanent pastures, there isn't very much spring seeding left. Neither is there too much spring grain. But one figures first of all, that the smaller acreage we have will produce more per acre and secondly that it is more profitable to grow a good crop of wheat and buy oats.

All this, of course, is just rambling a little bit about nothing. The outstanding fact is this all-pervading restlessness that comes with spring and the warmer weather. Fortunately we have a remedy for it and that is to get out and work on the land. We watched a man yesterday out in his new hayfield, picking stones. It was a new field because the stubble was still quite tall and thick, but one could see the healthy green patches coming through it. It was a nice looking field. This man was picking stones in a pail and putting them on his waggon, which was drawn by a good fat team of horses.

We are willing to bet that this was the first time the team did anyhing but haul manure for a long time. The farmer and his team, in the spring, both proud and happy in a new field—it was a pretty sight on that sunny afternoon. It represented the hope of things to come and the resul of last year's labor.

IN MEMORIAM

BALES — In memory of our grandson, Terry Bales, who passed away April 25, 1950.
Our heartbreak doubts and wondering why,
Little Terry had to die;
But in that happy land above,
We'll know, but now trust our Father's love.
Lovingly remembered by grandma and grandpa Miller.

HAMILTON—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. John Hamilton, who passed away April 23, 1951.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
Ever remembered by Delenah, Will, Marion and Lea.

HAMILTON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. John Hamilton, who passed away April 23, 1951.
Sweet memories will linger forever;
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever,
Our loving remembrance of you.
Lovingly remembered by son Alex, daughter-in-law Edith and grandsons.

PEMBERTON—In loving memory of my dear wife, Bertha May Pemberton, who passed away April 23, 1950.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past;
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home again to suffer no more.
Lovingly remembered by husband Jim.

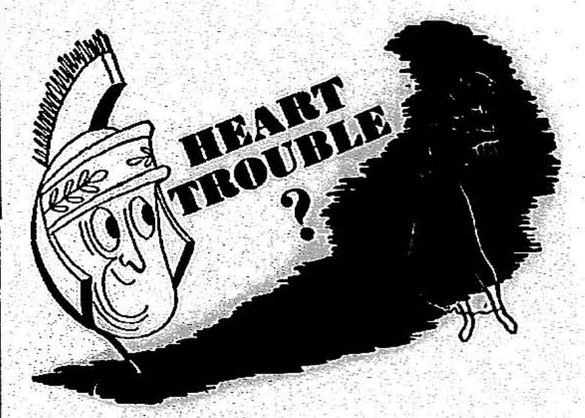

PEMBERTON—In loving memory of a dear mother, Bertha Pemberton, who passed away Apr. 23, 1950.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well;
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
Lovingly remembered by sons and daughters and grandchildren.

WEDDEL—In loving memory of a beloved husband and a dear father, Levi Weddel, who passed away April 23, 1948.
Should you go first and I remain
To walk the road alone,
I'll live in memory's garden, dear,
With happy days we've known.
In spring I'll watch for roses red,
When fades the lilac blue,
In early fall when brown leaves call,
I'll catch a glimpse of you.
Sadly missed and ever remembered by wife, Olga, sons and daughters.

"YOUR MANAGER"

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

A tisket, a tasket, where is that money basket? On Monday evening when we attended a dinner meeting of the Newmarket B. and P. club as a guest, we learned of a novel way in which to raise funds for a group.

It involved this basket which we never saw and had great difficulty in locating. Finally we learned that it was completely fictional. When the club's members spoke of passing on the basket, they merely meant the passing on to another member of her opportunity to raise talent money for the group.

The idea is that into this imaginary basket is placed some service or article for sale. One member, a housewife-stenographer, put in her basket an apple pie. Another, a hair dresser, had a shampoo and finger wave, while another member, a merchant, put a pair of nylons in the basket. But, whether it was the pie, nylons or jams and jellies, the proceeds from each sale go to the club.

The donor calls another member and says, "Hi, I've got an apron in my basket. Interested?" Whereupon the purchaser, if she is in the market for such an article, completes the transaction with the basket being passed along to her. The club's funds have been increased. A member's talents have been put to use and another begins to think of the way in which she will raise her quota.

Sale of House Plants

Another project to raise funds for an organization will be attempted by the members of the Newmarket Horticultural society at their open meeting to be held at Trinity United church on Friday, May 2. On that occasion newly propagated house plants will be on sale. Members are requested to slip any of their house plants which can be so treated at this time and to bring these little plants to the meeting on May 2. Proceeds from the sales will go to the society.

Thus, once again the organization will benefit and monies are sorely needed for the ambitious program planned for the society this year. Indoor gardeners will have contributed of their talents for the good of the group and an exchange of plants which is always interesting will have resulted. This money-raising idea seems admirably suited to such a group.

The guest speaker for this meeting will be John Bradshaw who will speak on "Your Garden in 1952".

"Buy and Sell" Sale

And here is yet another group's way of increasing its bank account. The Junior Evening auxiliary, W.M.S., Trinity United church, told us about it. They plan to instigate a "buy and sell" sale at their next meeting.

Again, the main theme is the donation of some useful article by one member which will be purchased by another with (naturally) the money going to the auxiliary to help meets its missionary allocation.

Hospital Auxiliary Asks How?

At the next meeting of the York County Hospital Women's auxiliary, representatives of the various organizations who have contributed to the hospital will be present to tell how they raised the money. A similar meeting was held last year and it was amazing the number of ways in which these active women's groups and Institutes had raised their donations.

Any groups contemplating a donation to the hospital are invited to join in this program which will be held on Tuesday, May 6, 3 p.m., in the Agricultural Board room, Botsford St. An all-out campaign for funds will be launched by the Ways and Means committee of the Hospital Auxiliary in May.

Tags, Blitzes and Cookie Day

Among the groups which will be appealing for funds in the immediate future is the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Its annual tag day will be held on Saturday, May 3. We are asked to help the blind to help themselves.

Guides and brownies throughout York county are now canvassing their communities to sell boxes of cookies. All orders are to be placed by May 1 with the divisional headquarters, but delivery of the cookies will be made on Saturday, May 17, the official Cookie day.

Guides and brownies, like their brothers, the scouts and cubs, are not permitted to tag or ask for contributions. They must give value for money received and their sale of cookies is the only appeal they make throughout the year for financial support from the community at large.

In buying a package of cookies, the purchaser gets a box of delicious, crunchy biscuits in the Guide trefoil design. The girl develops an appreciation of the value of money and funds are provided to further the work of guiding in the community.

SPEAKS TO TEACHERS ON 5-YEAR OLDS

Miss Ila Haines gave a paper on "Five Year Olds" at a meeting of the women teachers of the Newmarket Public schools on Wednesday, April 2. Held in the King George school the group continued the study of Gisell's book on child development.

Miss Haines pointed out that by the age of five years, development in the child has already slowed down. The changes from five to ten years being less striking than those in infancy, they are apt to be overlooked both at home and school. Developmental forces are continually working. Development of behaviour patterns vary with the background of each child. The security of a happy home or the reverse all play their part in forming the behaviour profile of the five-year-old.

Mrs. Roy Carr had rhubarb out of her garden on Monday, April 21.

This is clean-up time and when you rake and put your own yard in order, just do the same to the street in front and so help the Horticultural Society to make a nicer town and encourage our town fathers to fix sidewalks, etc.

Aurora's minor hockey teams had their biggest fling of the season Good Friday evening. Three championships were held up as bait for approximately 100 up and coming young hockey players. The eight teams after those titles, crests and trophies required five games to get the championship business settled. Rotary earned the right to polish up the Tom Dickson Trophy and wear the winning bantam crests with a spine-tingling 1 - 0 win over Lions. Here are the winning Rotarians: Back row, l. to r., Chas. Delahey (coach), Keith Kincaid (coach), Delbert Storie, Dan Patrick, Larry Spence, Ken Holman, Ross Patrick. Front row, l. to r., Bob Hickson, Ron Egan, Dave Griffith, Bob Copland, Terry Duckenfield. Kleinburg Ties Finals

Nobleton and Kleinburg are even at a game each in the best of five King-Vaughan Hockey League finals. It was Kleinburg's turn to win Friday. Trailing 4-1 after the first period, Kleinburg spurted for five second and three third period tallies to salt away a 9-6 win.

Noel "Nobby" Ash, the Pine Orchard citizen, scored twice, Stan Foster and Jack Woods once each as Nobleton got an early lead. Glen Atkinson scored in the second and again in the third to cmoplete the Nobleton scoring.

Len. Ellis and Harry Lostchuk were busy scoring lads for Kleinburg and had hat-trick jobs to prove it. Bill Roe shot in two and Murray Hillard racked up one to polish off the Kleinburg scoring.

The teams will squeeze in a second night this week in order to get the league completed before the potato planting season. The regular Friday game will go on as scheduled reports league secretary Bill Breedon.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This column is a composite - a voice crying in the wilderness, and a man engaged in the futile process of locking the stable after the horse has departed. But wilderness or not, this voice is still in favor of the Grey Cup final being played as a home-and-home series, between the eastern and western football winners. Pretty nearly everybody else has declared to the contrary, including the Canadian Rugby Union itself, but we still claim the right to speak our piece on behalf of fans, east and west, because we happen to think that under the present one-game final, the fans don't get a fair break.

We grant freely that the one-game football final in Toronto is the greatest sports show Canada produces, and that Varsity Stadium at Toronto with its tarpaulin-covered field is better fitted than any other one place in the Dominion for such an event. On the drama of a one-game final, and on the setting and equipment, there's not the slightest argument.

But the world's baseball series and the Stanley Cup series are reasonably dramatic events too. Yet they are not settled in one game, in a city which may be a neutral battle-ground, many miles from the home-sites of the contending teams. The folks who made possible, by their seasonal box-office contributions, the very existence of the winning teams in the American and National baseball leagues, and in the National Hockey League, get a chance to see their beloved heroes in the final classic, and that's more than you can say, as a general rule, of the Canadian football final. And we happen to think this isn't fair to the fans who have supported the winning teams.

To this radical observer, the one-game set-up is the height of frustration for fandom in the home cities of the winning teams, something akin to throwing the audience out of a theatre just as the dramatic finale of a gripping thriller is about to begin.

Perhaps we're wrong. We're merely offering the opinion that the Grey Cup could follow, in lesser fashion, the pattern of the world's baseball series or Stanley Sup series, and be settled by home-and-home games, one in each of the cities whose team won the title. We believe the fans in Ottawa, Montreal and Hamilton would like to see the team they made possible playing for the top honors. So would fans in Winnipeg, Edmonton, Regina and Calgary who, under present plans, can't get a peek at the play, at all, at least not until television comes in.

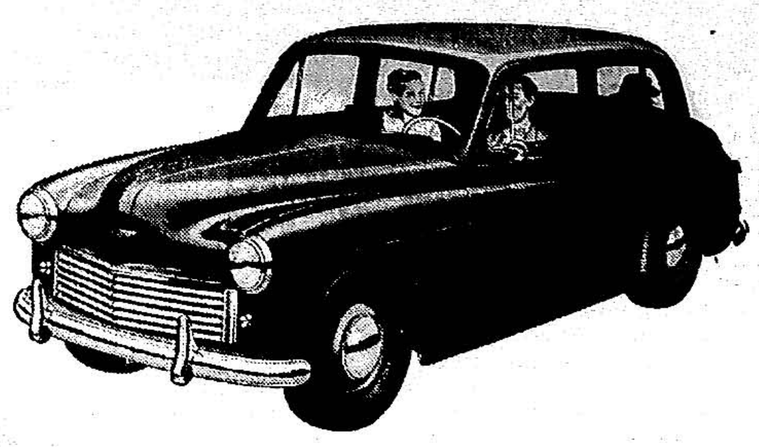

While we're in a mood which is not one of sweet reasonableness, we might as well disagree, too, with the hoist to eight imported players per team, as against seven. This, we believe, furnishes double discouragement for Canadian athletes seeking a football career. Eight imports minimize their chances of making any of the major teams, and the salaries necessary to lure American players here leave little money, comparatively, for Canadian athletes, thus obscured in their own game.

We believe the C.R.U., as an economic measure to protect clubs which are spending too much money on imports as it is, should have reduced the number of imports. But, after all, we're merely a voice crying in the wilderness.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Simcoe Loop Names Hodgins

The Lake Simcoe Softball League teams have until May 1 to file entries with secretary Harry Brammer. The Lake Simcoe Softball League organization meeting was held in the Sharon hall last Thursday. Delegates were present from Belhaven, Zephyr, Queensville, Keswick, Vandorf, Mount Albert, Holt and Pine Orchard. Willow Beach and Hope, two of last year's teams, were not represented.

Floyd Pegg presented the treasurer's report of a healthy financial position. Ken Hodgins was named president. Other officers: 1st vice-pres., Chesley Lunney; 2nd vice-pres., Morley "Joe" Case; sec., Harry Brammer; treas., Floyd Pegg; publicity agents, Tom Hare and Doug. Hope.

Ken Hodgins voiced the league's appreciation to retiring president Ross Chapman for his good service to the league. The rules were given the once over and no changes were recommended. The league executive and team delegates meet again Thursday, May 15, in the Sharon hall. At that time each team will present a list of eligible players for this season.

Delegates present were Ted Anderson, Tom Hare, Bruce Lockie, Ken Hodgins, Keswick; Willard Cryderman, Jack Perry, Lorne Smith, Byron Hilliard, Queensville; Alan Stiles, Irwin Davidson, Belhaven; Horace Berwick, Art Gibney, Murray Edgar, Holt; Nick Simpson, Morley Case, Mount Albert; Ches. Lunney, Zephyr; Harold Botham, Vandorf; Harry Brammer, Pine Orchard; Floyd Pegg, Ross Chapman, Geo. Haskett.

Keswick To Have New Field

Keswick softball men, teams and boosters, have been passing out broad hints over the past few years that their present quarters at the school field were too cramped. They've been pressing for action for a new and more spacious location for their summer endeavors.

It appears now they'll get their wish—in fact the North Gwillimbury township council is going to do their request one better. At the April meeting of the council, it was resolved to purchase a five acre track of land immediately to the north of the North Gwillimbury Memorial Center and arena. This purchase will not only cover a new ball field but will give Keswick and its fast expanding summer resort area a recreation and picnic area.

Work on the project, particularly on the ball field, is expected to start shortly and it's quite probable the Keswick men's team of Simcoe League, junior men's, junior ladies' and school league teams will move into their new surroundings before the summer is out and play-off time rolls around.

Hastening the softball teams' pleas for action in this respect has been the prevalent report that an addition to the Keswick school is pending which would gobble up a great deal of the land now used as a diamond and would force the teams to seek home diamonds elsewhere.

Original idea was to purchase a tract of land 200x300 feet for a softball diamond but councillors at the April meeting agreed with a resolution by Councillor Wm. A. King and Deputy-Reeve Pollock to purchase the larger area.

Smith's Boys Back

Newmarket Softball League teams are beginning to make known their plans for this year. Ray Smith's Sports and Cycle Shop team will be back for another go in the Town Softball League swim. That's the report handed out this week by team sponsor Ray Smith.

FRANK COURTNEY RETIRES

It was decided by unanimous vote at the senior ladies' softball team organization meeting Tuesday to ask Frank Courtney to again assume the managership of the team. Coach Charlie VanZant advised Wednesday morning that his side-kick over the years had begged off for this season. Frank has done yeoman service promoting the ladies' softball team and the Barrie & District Softball League. His assistance on both counts will be greatly missed.

Couple Mark Anniversary

One of Mariposa's oldest couples celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary this month amid friends and surrounded by tokens of esteem.

The pleasant afternoon and evening marking the occasion were spent at their home on the seventh concession of Mariposa, near Cresswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble who are both in their 85th year have resided on the same farm since their marriage, March 23, 1892. Mr. Noble is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hezekiah Noble and Mrs. Noble is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Prosser of Keswick. They were married at the Prosser family home in Keswick by her uncle, the late Rev. Saul Prosser.

Aside from being industrious farm people, Mr. Noble was quite an authority on beekeeping and kept an apiary himself for some years. The honey produced from his apiary was known far and wide for quality and flavor.

Mrs. Aylward Marrittt of Sutton, and Mrs. Ewart Rogers, of Oakwood, nieces of Mrs. Noble, prepared a sumptuous dinner in honor of the bride and groom of 60 years ago.

Several of Mr. and Mrs. Noble's relatives called in the afternoon to congratulate them on this happy occasion — people from Sutton, Cannington, Woodville, Lindsay and Oakwood and many called the evening before to extend them the best of wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Noble Dunn and family joined the happy group for afternoon and evening and supplied a very bountiful evening meal.

Mr. Dunn is a nephew of Mr. Noble's and the Dunn grandchildren entertained the happy couple to an evening of songs and recitations.

The bride and groom of 60 years were recipients of three lovely wedding cakes fittingly decorated for this anniversary also beautiful flowers, roses and bouquets of beautiful spring flowers, besides many useful gifts. The great number of cards they received were a tribute of the high esteem they are held not only here but from great distances. Among these cards were ones received from both Dominion and Provincial Governments, also from Queen Elizabeth II.

They were both stalwart adherents to the Christian church at Little Britain and were influential in the building of that church. Their lives, in the words of a friend, are a tribute to their steadfast faith in God the Giver of all things.

Their numerous friends wish them many future happy years together.

Bell Boys Optimistic

Bell are ready for all comers in the town league softball wars. Actually, should say Thompson-Bell boys because Bell Telephone entry of last year and garage owner Fred Thompson have merged in the sponsorship of this year's entry in the town league.

Officers of the Thompson-Bell were named at a meeting held last week: pres., Jack Smith; sec. treas., Ken Marshall; manager, Bill Johnston; coach, Alf. Peel; assist., Jack Teasdale.

Thompson-Bell officials aren't handing out any championship claims but are sure they'll give the opposition a battle every time out. "Have new players to choose from and we'll be stronger than last year" is the way they sum up this year's Thompson-Bell nine.

Haskett's HASH

BY GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

Question before the house this week concerns our Recreation Commission - or perhaps we should say, lack of it. Last week - without intending to tread on the toes of anyone in particular - we made the crack that our commission could be dead and buried for all the fuss they make.

That brought forth several queries ranging from (one) didn't know there was such a thing; (two) thought it was dead long ago; (three) if it still exists what does it do?

In answer to one and two, there is such a thing - it's alive - just—but dying. As to what it does - well - there my friendlies, you have me. From the above, you can readily glean Commission needs revamping - a new lease on life - new and additional members - if it is to go active. Recreation Commissions do have a place in the community, promoting, assisting and coordinating the sports activity. Natural step after putting the Commission on a get up and go basis would be to hire a recreation director. It's food for thought - Hub could use a director during the school holiday season - in fact year round. This is supposed to be off season in sports. But the softball pot is bubbling over - baseballers making ready - and there's a few hockey hang-overs to throw out at bargain rates.

Notice both Stouffville Clippers and Collingwood Greenshirts are in O.H.A. finals—just proves Spits were hooked up with top circuit in the O.H.A. Beeton have won the O.R.H.A. intermediate A title. They'll challenge Ellis Pringle's winning senior Greenshirts. It's their privilege. Prize is Dowling Trophy.

Aside to side-kick Down the Center Abner, local hockey hero says recent Stouffville-Orillia hockey broadcast was not the first from North York. Spits-Gananoque game was aired from here three years ago over a Kingston station. Play by play broadcaster took up his station in the band-stand.

Softball siftings: Four teams for the Town League: Thompson-Bell, Office Specialty, Sports and Cycle, Hoffman, says prexy Mickey Smith. Early season cry is watch the Thompson-Bell Slow ball artists came in on the Bell draft this week. King-pin Ross Chapman of Simcoe circuit has retired. The turnip king went away with the hearty thanks of the delegates for a successful five-year reign as the league prospered and hit a new high in fan popularity. Bob Peters, Joe Tunney and Harv. Gibney have been asked to handel the umping for this year. Ken "Moose" Hodgins, Keswick hard rock slugger, is the new Simcoe prexy. Wise choice as long as it doesn't cut down on his home run production.

Big diamond siftings: Tonight the local baseballers get the answer. South Simcoe Baseball league meets at Beeton—Newmarket request is on the membership. Keep your fingers crossed. Spread of baseball this year truly amazes this paragrapher—and by all accounts, it's just the beginning.

Keswick Monday orangized for a four-team Pony League — 14 and under boys. Pony Leagues have been going great guns below the border and are creeping into Canada. No Elmer, it has nothing to do with the races or ponies—its' baseball all the way—big league contracts waiver rules and all that business. Seems to click—10,000 spectators attended national finals in the U.S.

Mount Albert Legion, we are told, are considering the sponsorship of minor baseball in that neck of the woods. Big point everyone puts across is did you ever hear of a softball player moving up? There's nowhere to go. Baseball's different. Hunt is on for talent for the big time and Ontario isn't being overlooked.

Bulletin Service: Don't forget Lake Simcoe Junior Ladies League organization meeting at Keswick on Tuesday, April 29. Two delegates from each team Mount Albert championship ladies team make a start on the season April 29. Calgary Range Riders will be in Mount then—proceeds in aid of the ball team.

Citizens Entitled To Have Full And Complete Reports: Harris Choir At Convention

Last week we reported that the stable village of Dundalk had voted against having liquor and beer outlets in the community; this week we note that Brampton voted in favor of their installation. We understand that the explanation for this is to be found in the large number of newcomers to that town, most of whom work outside of it.

As our readers know, for the past six weeks we have given almost our entire editorial space over to a discussion of the issues, to the exclusion of other matters that we might have discussed. We have made our own position abundantly clear and a Citizens' Committee is now in existence to represent the campaign against the outlets.

We repeat a point that we made several weeks ago, to the effect that Aurora is a community made up of a large number of families of long standing, who have preserved through the years a way of life best suited to a peaceful development of the town. Aurora has been and still is an almost crime-free community and citizens are justly proud of that fact. That is a basic reason why its best-thinking citizens do not want its peaceful way of life changed.

Arena Board Debate

We were not invited to the meeting of the Arena Board which was held on Monday night, April 14, but which was reported at great length in the Aurora Banner, and is stated to have lasted from 8 p.m. to half an hour after midnight. If we had received an invitation from the chairman to be present we would have been there. We have never at any time received an official invitation to attend Arena Board meetings, and until we do so we have no intention of pushing our way in where, apparently, we are not wanted. The chairman's attack on us, as reported in the Banner, is therefore entirely one-sided and lacks common fairness.

In its issue of Thursday, Apr. 10, the Banner carried a two-line headline in master-size type which read: "Conditions at Arena Called 'Deplorable' As Town Councillors Express Criticisms." Our information is that Mr. Underhill took the editor of the Banner to task for putting such a headline into the paper. But nothing is said about that in the Banner report of the Arena debate.

Reporting What Was Said

We suggest it would have been a simple matter for the chairman to have informed us of the meeting, and his intended attack, so that we could have been present to report the meeting. We reported what was said at council the week previous, where the press and the public are welcome. Our own headline was much less aggressive than the one carried by the Banner. Our headline read: "Arena Board, Management Come Under Critical Review."

It was the usually mild-mannered Councillor Cliff Corbett who used the word "deplorable" in connection with the arena and it was Councillor Jim Murray who said the Arena Board was "inactive." We reported what these gentlemen asserted, as it was our public duty to do. We are not aware that either one of them has repudiated the charges made. Are we to be blamed for giving the citizens of Aurora an accurate account of what members of council say in a public session?

Space Offered for Reply

Mr. W. H. Stoddart is reported to have said that "he had been the subject of unwarranted attack by an out-of-town paper, the Newmarket Era." The Newmarket Era has never attacked Mr. Stoddart, Aurora News Page published several contributions from Mr. T. F. Swindle, to which Mr. Stoddart took exception, and to which Mr. Swindle replied in our issue of February 7. Mr. Swindle then said: "I am in a position to prove all my statements. Let Mr. Stoddart say what it is he objects to and I am ready to furnish a reply."

We offered space to Mr. Stoddart in which to reply to Mr. such as Mr. Swindle has proved vantage of our offer. Mr. Swindle was a member of the Arena Board for two years and resigned several months ago for one reason among others, namely, that the board was so inactive that it often couldn't get a quorum together.

If to publish letters from a well-informed and active citizen, much as Mr. Swindle has proved himself to be, is an act of "unwarranted criticism", then we are guilty of it, and we make no apology for such guilt. The public has a right to know as much as possible about their rink; and if its board of management had invited the press to its meetings the present disagreeable debates would have been avoided. However, it seems that at last some light is being let in on its proceedings. We suggest that if the Arena Board should come to council for a vote of confidence on its Arena management that Mr. Swindle be invited to be present to answer the charges of "unwarranted criticism" arising from the articles he has published in Aurora News Page. We think that course would be fair to him and to our paper.

Recreation Commission

The Recreation Commission held a regular meeting on Thursday night, April 17, when there were present Don Glass, chairman, Councillors Corbett and Murray, J. E. Buchanan, J. M. Offord, William Allen, Rev. G. H. Purchase, Les. Steadman and P. E. Perryment, recreation director.

Excellent reports were presented from the Handicraft and Social committees, and it was agreed to co-operate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in their "Town beautification plan." Very favorable comment was made on the work and effort of the Jaycees.

A report of some damage to playground equipment caused by children evoked comment that it seemed ironic that children would damage equipment from which they got so much pleasure. Plans for more equipment, such as tables and bleachers, were approved.

A unanimous vote of confidence in P. E. Perryment, recreation director, was passed, with instructions that a copy of the resolution be sent to council.

In the absence of Mr. W. Harvey Bell, secretary-treasurer, who was absent owing to illness, Mr. Les. Steadman acted in his place.

Bigwin Inn Convention.

A huge convention numbering 1,000, of urban and rural school trustees, will assemble at the Bigwin Inn on June 26, composed of delegates from all parts of the province. An outstanding feature of the proceedings will be the presence of one of Mr. Illtyd Harris's choirs.

Mr. Harris received a pressing invitation to attend the convention accompanied by one of his choral groups. As most of the high school students will have completed the school term at the date of the convention, it would be impossible for Mr. Harris to arrange to take the high school glee club. Much to the delight of the public school choir, its members will now have the privilege of a delightful trip.

Cow In Window

A brown cow, swishing its tail and chewing some grass, was a feature in the window of John Morning's drug store last week, giving a thrill of interest to children and adults alike. It was a remarkable miniature model and drew admiration from passers-by.

The unusual feature was an advertisement for veterinary remedies much favored by farmers for their herds. Mr. Morning has a plentiful and varied supply of these remedies at his store on Yonge street.

Tales of Hoffman

A few readers may have noticed that the Aurora Banner last week recruited the services of S. Gordon Hoffman for its editorial page to suggest a dark plot to "belittle everything in Aurora for the betterment of the adjacent town where the out-of-town paper is published." Life is too short to pay any attention to such vulgar noises.

EDITORIALS

APRIL 1951, APRIL 1952

Twelve months have gone by since we wrote our first articles under the masthead, Aurora News Page. We began as we have continued, to write freely and independently on local matters concerned with the town in which we live. We have done so without personal animus towards anyone.

Our first editorial contained the assurance that we would be writing for "all the people in Aurora, not for a few people," and that readers would get the facts as we understood them, and the facts would not be trimmed. We have kept faith with our promises. If in the process some people have taken offence, our answer is that we have served the cause of truth as well as we know how.

During the past twelve months we have had complete freedom to write what we thought it necessary to write, as freely as though we printed and published the paper at our own risk and expense. Unlike some editors, we have been an editor in fact as well as in name. No one associated with the Era and Express in any way has at any time suggested one word or one idea for publication in Aurora News Page.

It is necessary that this point should be very firmly emphasized at a moment when certain people are insinuating that this writer is the catspaw of a so-called "Newmarket influence", or, in other words, takes his orders from someone associated with the control and management of the Newmarket Era and Express.

No baser untruth was ever manufactured to exploit self-interest. It is a lastditch defence, an experiment with falsehood where other methods have failed.

TRUTH AND ITS CONSEQUENCES

Those who are guilty of such shameless suggestions do not want the truth, and probably wouldn't recognize it. They have an axe to grind, and will grind it in fair or foul conditions, whichever best suits their purpose.

We have no axe to grind other than to tell our readers what we honestly believe to be true. That course we have faithfully followed since we began to write for the citizens of Aurora in September, 1949. We have every right to feel proud of the confidence readers have shown in our sincerity, never more so than today when the sales of our newspaper are greater than ever before.

The only means that a community has of learning what is going on in its midst is through its local news paper; and if such a paper panders to special interests for its own personal ends, then the citizens are hoodwinked and misled. They are at the mercy of their local newspaper when town activities are reported and commented on; they can only know what they are told.

We are not and never have been the tool of special interests. Often we have found it necessary to criticize them, especially recently in regard to assessment matters. Of course we are not liked for such candor. We cannot help what some people like or dislike. We have to write the truth as we understand it and take the consequences.

When we first began to write in Aurora there was little interest shown in municipal affairs. Hardly anything was known of Planning board activities. No one today would say that the citizens of Aurora do not take an active interest in town activities.

A CLEAR CONSCIENCE

Having but one life to live, we shall carry on the work of our choice to the best of our ability, for as long as we can do so. We are working on a newspaper for a livelihood plus something more. The something more is just as important to us as the means of livelihood. It is that we shall honestly and faithfully serve our readers so that at the end of the journey our conscience shall be clear.

We may be old-fashioned; but we happen to place a lot of importance on conscience and a man's relations with his fellows. We like to feel that we are doing the right thing. At the end of the line we would like it to be said of us that we were at all times honest with our readers. A dishonest writer is more dangerous than a death-dealing drug. The drug may kill but one person; but the dishonest writer can poison the minds of an infinite number of people. We have a healthy loathing for double-faced bipeds.

What we have written for Aurora readers since September, 1949, has often been of a critical character; but our criticisms have always been accompanied by substantiating data. There has never at any time been anything personal in what we have written. As the records can prove, we have often praised those who have abused us. Seldom, however, have we received a word of thanks for such praise. That omission has never depressed us, human nature being what it is.

We shall continue as we have been doing; and whether we please or offend we shall write the truth as we see it. Meanwhile we are enjoying a happy newspaper birthday.

COUNCIL REPORT

57 Mill Rate Wins Approval In Face Of Some Opposition Query Planning Boards $800

A regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, April 21, with Mayor Rose and all members of council present. This was budget night, with Reeve Cook, chairmain of the finance committee, in charge of the report which indicated a reduction in the mill rate from 58 to 57, which will be generally regarded as a remarkable achievement.

Among the correspondence received was a resolution from the Recreation commission, which had been passed unanimously, expressing full and complete confidence in the ability and competence of the Recreation director in the carrying out of his duties.

The resolution of the Recreation commission, which was unanimously accepted by council, was not allowed to pass without comment, the Deputy-Reeve, James Murray, pointing out that there were "two Jim Murrays on council," and he wished to disassociate himself from Councillor Jim Murray whose critical remarks on the recreation director had been reported by the press and these could be detrimental to the town.

Councillor Murray pointed out that he had not criticized the recreation director and was supported by Councillor Tucker who said there had been no criticism of the recreation director.

Mayor Rose said there had been no criticism of the recreation director in council, at which point the matter was closed.

(Actually what Councillor Murray dealt with at council at its meeting on April 7 was the division of work carried out by the recreation director between the rink and the recreation commission, which he did not think was in the best interests of the arena. He pointed out that in his capacity as arena manager the recreation director did not work at night. Far from criticizing Mr. Perryment, Mr. Murray paid tribute to his abilities. From this confusion of thought Deputy-Reeve Murray was rescued by Mayor Rose and Councillor Tucker. Editor.)

J.C.C. Activities

Mr. L. Maughan, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, appeared before council in connection with town beautification week, the date of which has been changed to May 11 to 17.

Councillor Tucker observed that it would be wise for the Jaycees to confer with the Parks Board in regard to their plans and was assured by Mr. Maughan that the Junior Chamber and the Parks board were working in perfect accord.

Mr. L. Rubin, on behalf of the Junior chamber, introduced Mr. John Best of the Sani-poster advertising company of Canada, who spoke at length on the adviability of installing disposal units in town. These would be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and were approved by council.

In connection with the municipal courses sponsored by the Junior chamber, to be held on April 28, May 5 and 12, it was pointed out that the Lions club had donated the sum of $20, the cost of hiring their hall, and council agreed on a similar donation if required, Mr. Maughan pointing out that the summer charges for the Lions hall might then be in force.

Mr. A. E. L. Maughan, representing the Board of Trade, spoke on the need of literature advertising the town, and council approved an expenditure not exceeding $75 for a joint publication with the Board of Trade for such purposes.

Permits Committee

Councillor Tucker reminded council that no action had been taken on his suggestion made at an earlier meeting that a council member of the Planning board be added to the building permits committee. He was of the opinion that such an addition would be of value.

Mayor Rose pointed out that the members of each committee had been duly appointed and he did not consider it would be in order to disturb that arrangement now. He saw no good reason for making such a change.

This view being shared by council, the matter ended.

The Budget

Reeve Cook, on behalf of the finance committee, introduced the budget which represented a 57 mill rate for the current year. This meant a reduction of one mill as compared with the previous year.

Deputy-Reeve commended the report which he said would come as an agreeable surprise to most taxpayers. He was of the opinion, however, that no harm would be done if the former mill rate were maintained and urged council to keep the rate at the same figure as last year. There were many problems facing them, he said. The Main street was shabby and the sidewalks needed attention. "Give us a chance," he said, "to do extra work," maintaining that the old mill rate would go a long way in keeping the town up.

Councillor Jones said it was a good thing to lower the mill rate.

Mayor Rose expressed his agreement with the deputy-reeve's opinions. Reeve Cook said the budget had been very carefully considered in all its features and felt that it should stay at the figures arrived at.

Planning Board $800

The one feature of expense that did arouse criticism was the $800 allocation asked for by the Planning board. Councillor Davis questioned this and was answered by Councillor Tucker, who said that council "either had or hadn't confidence in the board, which, he declared, was trying to do a good job for the town." While asking for the grant, Mr. Tucker said that it was not the board's intention to "spend that much money."

Deputy-Reeve Murray in supporting the grant said that the Planning board was a vital part of the town, and considered it was doing good work.

Councillor Jim Murray, in opposing the grant, said that it was not a question of whether they had confidence in the ability of the board, but a question of what the money would be spent on. Most of the money the board had received, he said, had gone to someone in the city. The money had not been spent mostly in town, he said, but had gone out of town. Their own town solicitor, said Councillor Murray, had constantly advised against Planning board proposals,, especially the zoning by-law.

Majority Vote

Mayor Rose said that the zoning by-law was wholly impracticable and members of the Planning board themselves realized that it could never go on.

Councillor Murray said that suggestions made by the Planning board had to come back to their own solicitor, who had disapproved of most of them.

Councillor Tucker maintained that zoning by-laws were being adopted by all the larger municipalities and reaffirmed his request that the grant be approved.

Reeve Cook, who occupied the chair during the budget submission, then called for a vote on the Planning board request for $800 for the current year. Those voting in favor were: Deputy-Reeve Murray and Councillors Corbett, King and Tucker. Opposed: Councillors Davis, Jones and Murray. The reeve then declared the motion carried.

Other Business

Councillor Murray, chairman of the Sports and Publicity committee, reported to council that the C.N.R. management did not approve of the suggestion of a "Welcome Sign" being posted up on their property at the south end of the town.

Council decided that taxpayers would be allowed discount time until May 15.

Our Lady of Grace church informed council that a garden party would be held on Saturday, June 21.

Daylight saving time in Aurora, council decided, would conform with the date fixed by the city of Toronto.

By-laws changing the name of Leper street to Hillview Road and confirming the structure of the Parks board were passed.

Aurora's total assessment now stands at the figures of $2,521,-232.23, members of council were informed.

(A review of council proceedings will be given in "Council Sidelights" in next week's issue. Ed.)

EVENING BRANCH

On Monday evening, April 21, 36 ladies assembled in the Aurora United church parlors for the monthly meeting of the Evening branch of the Woman's Association. The guest speaker, Mrs. Starr, Vandorf, gave a very interesting paper on the parable of the talents, her theme being "Let God have your life; He can do more with it than you could." A vocal number by Mrs. Grant Morley was enjoyed by all.

The main topic of business was the Robin Hood cooking school which is being held April 29, 30 and May 1 in The Lions Hall at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Graham, activities convener, reported that Mr. Taylor, of Taylor Electric, at his own expense, had generously agreed to supply a new stove and refrigerator for the use of the school. She announced the master of ceremonies for the three nights as: Miss Mary Mary Bowman, April 29; Dr. Crawford Rose, April 30; and Mr. Taylor, May 1.

It was reported that many door prizes had been donated by the local merchants and that contributions from many firms were arriving daily. At present count it was expected there would be 25 bags of groceries per night and at least an additional 25 door prizes plus the delicious demonstration dishes and free recipes which would be given away each night.

Mrs. Johncox, ticket convener, reported that there were only a limited number of tickets to be sold each night and that returns at present were very good. For extra tickets she suggested the members contact Mrs. Pennock at 11 Mosley St. or Mrs. Johncox, phone 325w.

Fire Damages Home

Fire caused considerable damage to the home of Mrs. Frank Rolf early Saturday afternoon. The blaze broke out near the roof above a bedroom window of the one-storey dwelling.

When Mrs. Rolf became aware of the fire, it was breaking through the window into the room, and burning the drapes. Bruce Roberts snatched them from the flames and with the help of neighbors organized a bucket brigade to bring the blaze under control by the time Aurora fire department arrived.

Drinkwater Motors brought fire extinguishers and an oil truck passing through the village also rushed extinguishers to the scene. The local fire fighters cut a hole in the roof to quell the blaze before it swept through the attic. The cause of the fire is not known and the loss is covered by insurance. Part of the roof was burned and the interior of the room was damaged.

Fortunately there was plenty of water in the nearby well and buckets were well supplied although Mrs. Rolf afterward fainted from exhaustion after she had pumped water throughout the danger period. On Sunday she visited her husband at Sunnybrook hospital to tell him first-hand what had happened. Mr. Rolf has been in hospital for over five weeks with a heart condition. Mr. Roberts, who has an apartment at the Rolf home, had fire fighting experience in England during blitz days and gave very prompt action at the scene. He said a westerly wind was a factor in saving other parts of the dwelling.

Baby Christened

Rev. W. W. Weir of Brampton baptised Elizabeth Daphne Ainsworth, aged seven months, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ainsworth, at St. Andrew's, Strange on Sunday. Mrs. Florence Ada Wilson of Weston and Mr. John K. Morley, the baby's uncle, stood as god-parents. Mrs. Elizabeth Cant Micholls of Manchester, England, the child's great aunt for whom she is named, is also a god-mother for her namesake. The christening ceremony was held when the congregations of Strange, Eversley and Ninth Line met for combined worship with Mr. Weir as preacher. Mr. David Wotherspoon was also present.

King Girl is Eaton "Rep."

Miss Freda Dent has been chosen by the T. Eaton Company as Aurora high school girl representative on the student council of that company. She was one of six girls from the school to be selected for the position. L. Easterbrook was chosen boy representative. During Easter vacation, Freda and Charlie Marston of Aurora, attended the annual Bunny Hop at Casa Loma, Toronto.

Mrs. George Hately of Eversley is the head of the first cafeteria section of the new high school building at Aurora which was opened for classes on Monday morning. Mrs. Hately is well known by all the students as her son George is one of the senior students and Carol entered school last September. Her daughter Joyce graduated a year ago.

Cubs Do Puppet Show

Richvale minstrels, who produced a colorful show on April 18 for First King Scouts, Cubs and Brownie Pack, are a group of residents who either belong to the group committee, are scout and cub leaders, or parents of those in the organizations. Their repertoire included choral numbers, solos, tap dancing, end-men dialogues and acts. Harold Ince was the M.C.

George Good and Herbie McLeod, Richvale cubs, did an "ad lib" puppet show, entirely their own idea. Georgie made the puppets and has been doing these little shows since he was three years old. Mr. J. L. Grew, local group committee chairman, thanked the entertainers for their performance and the Brownie local association served refreshments to the visitors.

Mrs. Howard Jackson Dies

The sudden death of Mrs. Howard Jackson of Maple on April 11, at the home of her daughter Grace, at Buffalo, was a great shock to her family and friends. She was visiting her daughter when she passed away from a heart attack. The funeral service was held at the Jackson farm home, Teston sideroad, Vaughan township, where Mrs. Jackson made her home with her daughter Marguerite. Rev. McPhee of Meaford, a friend of the family, conducted the service and interment was in Maple cemetery.

Besides her daughter Grace of Buffalo, and her daughter Marguerite (Mrs. Baker) of Maple, a third daughter, Mrs. Isobel Woyce, lives in Toronto. Two sons also survive, Burwell of King and Clayton of Toronto. Mrs. Jackson's brother is Dr. R. G. Schell of Chicago, who, with his daughter, Mrs. D. Young of Hamilton, attended the funeral.

The re-organized scout troop of nine boys is getting under way with regular weekly meetings. Scoutmaster George Harvey has the assistance of Keith Cambden until such time as he takes on Teston scouts once again. The boys elected John Dew and Tim Grew to act as patrol leaders.

Jack Humbly and his friend, Paul Hauerback of Toronto, returned last week from a month's vacation in California. They motored 9,000, visiting Mexico and other sections. The weather was excellent all the time they travelled. Jack was intrigued with the scenery about Los Angeles where the hills were in full floom with wild lupin.

Mrs. G. H. Stone enjoyed the company of her daughters, Mrs. Tom Proctor of Schomberg and Mrs. H. H. Whitney of Atherley, and daughter Frances during the recent Easter vacation. They motored about considerably, having a pleasant time among friends.

Mr. Bill Blackmore of Toronto brought his fiancee to King on Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dent. Mr. Blackmore comes from Bristol, Eng., and is employed at DeHaviland Aircraft. His fiancee flew from England three weeks ago and they will be married this summer. With Mr. and Mrs. Dent, they had supper at Summit View, Yonge St.

Ronald and Jamie Fox wards of Mrs. Dent, spent Sunday in Toronto with their mother. It was Jamie's eighth birthday.

Mrs. J. C. Belknap entertained several young friends for her son Rickey on his eighth birthday on April 9. She took them by bus to Aurora to see Disney features at the Royal theatre and afterward served refreshments at her home. Mrs. Marguerite Gellatly gave a birthday party for her daughter Beth, on April 12, when her school friends joined to celebrate her ninth birthday.

Mrs. M. Gellatly is a patient in the private patients' pavilion, Toronto General hospital, where she underwent a surgical operation last week. She will be away from her teaching duties at Temperanceville for a time.

Miss Carol Gellatly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gellatly, con. 4, was the guest of her school chum, Doreen Rutledge, for Easter holiday week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Walker and baby daughter, Shirley Anne, have moved to Aurora, until such time as they get a new home built on their lot on Dew and Williams streets, King City. Bob will commute to his hardware and building produtes business where his assistant is Dave Lenhardt.

Mrs. T. L. Williams is a delegate from Toronto West Presbyterial to the fifth synodical of missionary societies held at Lindsay Presbyterian church, April 22, 23 and 24. She is staying with her relatives there during the sessions.

Miss Evelyn Courtney and Miss Marion O'Neill, officials of the King and Vaughan Teachers' Federation, are meeting this week with Mrs. Helen Ward, provincial federation executive secretary, at Toronto, to arrange a program of activity in connection with the local organization of which Miss Wesley of Thornhill is president. For the past two years the activity of the organization was at a standstill. Revival of interest was keenly displayed at a recent social gathering, and the impetus stimulated by Mrs. Ward.

Presbyterial W.M.S.

"As mission workers of the Christian church, we have a task that angels would covet," said Mrs. A. S. Curr, president of Toronto West Presbyterial. She was addressing the Easter thank-offering meeting of Eversley Presbyterian W.M.S. at the home of the president, Mrs. T. L. Williams, April 16. Members of the Woodbridge society were guests. About 40 were present, including Presbyterial executives, Mrs. Harry Wood, supply secretary, Miss Alma Cheyne, treasurer, and Mrs. Beatrice Judge, press secretary.

Mrs. Curr asked her audience to visualize the missionary effort "through the eyes of our missionaries." The church is the instrument for the task that has been passed to our hands by the risen Christ, that we may express what He meant when He said "To the least of these", said the speaker, when she described how the work is being carried out in different parts of the world.

In Formosa the missionaries see the fruits of a work commenced 80 years ago by Dr. Geo. Leslie McKay. They see the Christian schools for 992 girls and boys; the great work of the McKay Memorial hospital opened in 1912 and service of the Happy Mount Leprosy Colony. They see Formosan women ordained to the church and many becoming elders. In India the missionaries know there is one doctor for 7,000 people and one nurse for 40,000 persons. Miss Bessie McMurchy and Miss Isobell McConnell under the Presbyterian W.M.S. are at work at the roadside clinics, where hundreds of children are saved from starvation. They see hungry children grasping for the powdered milk tablets and vitamins and cod liver oil.

In Japan, the Koreans are crying out for teachers. When Miss Mary McKenzie, graduate deaconess of Canada arrives there, she will be one to answer the call. In British Guiana, 33 schools are being maintained. In Montreal, the Tyndall House is sponsoring a children's centre.

"We are not asked just for fellowship of the church. "We are asked for a knowledge of Christ," declared Mrs. Curr.

Mrs. Williams was chairman, and led Easter devotions. Prayers were given by Mrs. J. Ball, and Mrs. D. C. Wotherspoon. Mrs. Rhoda Farren led the general prayer. The roll call was answered with the name of a missionary. Mrs. Williams, who had welcomed all the visitors, reminded her auxiliary of the annual sectional meeting at Knox church, Vaughan township, on May 21. Greetings were brought from the Presbyterial by Mr. Curr and Mrs. Herbert Farr, president of Woodbridge W.M.S., spoke briefly as did others who came with Mrs. Curr from the Presbyterial.

A duet was sung by Mrs. Fred Boys of Oak Ridges and Mrs. Leonard Shropshire of Eversley, with accompaniment by Miss Jessie Gellatly. Miss Erie Ellen Plunkett of Woodbridge sang "My Task", accompanied by Mrs. R. N. Mitchell. Mrs. Jas. Crooks of King was welcomed as a new member of the Eversley society.

The thank offering of $20 was turned over directly to Miss Cheyne.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Don Merchant of Toronto, and the refreshment committee of the auxiliary. Of special interest was the bale shower of towels and pillow cases on view at the conclusion of the meeting.

Will Call Minister

The Presbyterian congregations of Strange, Eversley and Ninth Line Presbyterian churches have resolved to extend a call to Mr. David Wotherspoon, as minister of the King charge, of which he has been resident student pastor for the past two years. He graduates from Knox College on April 29, receiving a preaching licence on May 2 and his ordination and induction on May 9

When signatures of elders, members and adherents of the charge are attached to the call, it will be presented to Toronto Presbyterial for approval on Tuesday, May 6. It is 10 years since the King charge has had a resident ordained minister. Supplies have filled the pulpits of the three churches. It is Mr. Wotherspoons's intention to accept the call upon approval by Presbytery.

Rev. W. W. Weir of Brampton, district intermoderator, presided when the call was formulated on Sunday, when the congregations gathered at St. Andrew's church, Strange, on Sunday, for a joint service preached by Mr. Weir.

Special Choir for Anniversary

The 81st anniversary of King City United Church will be observed on Sunday, May 4. The choir is being trained in special anthems for the morning service. At the evening service, the Christian Business Girls' Choir of 20 voices, from Toronto, will sing. The choral group which has Patsy Burgess, formerly of King, and Marilyn Panke of Teston as two of its members, has recently sung in Buffalo, N.Y., and presented a concert at Knox Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Rev. M. R. Jenkinson is arranging for anniversary guest preachers for the day.

Join Teston Church

Communion service was conducted by Rev. M. R. Jenkinson on Sunday for the congregations of Teston, Laskay and King United Churches. At Teston between 70 and 80 took the sacrament and joining by profession of faith were four young Sunday School girls, Betty Isobel O'Brien, Barbara Anne Cooper, Jean Eleanor Williamson, Hazel Irene Marwood. A lovely bouquet of flowers adorned the church, given by the Kingdon family in memory of their mother.

At the King City church, Mr. William Thomson of Toronto was received into the communion by certificate from Danforth United Church.

First King Brownie Pack with their leader, Mrs. Marion Laing, and her assistant, Faye Armstrong, will be proud to participate in their first church parade on Sunday, April 27, when they attend the evening service at King City United Church. Rev. Jenkinson will deliver a special sermon on this occasion. The attendance will be augmented by members of the local auxiliary and parents of the girls.

All Saints' W.A. Plans Plant Sale

At the regular meeting of All Saints' Anglican W.A. at the home of Mrs. Fred Monson on April 10, Mrs. Monson, Mrs. R. Burt, the president, and Mrs. H. H. Alexander were appointed delegates to Toronto Diocesan Annual meeting on April 29. The sessions continue through to May 1. On April 26, the Girls' Auxiliary holds the Spring Festival at Grace-Church On-The-Hill. All Saints G.A. will attend.

On Thursday, May 1, the W.A. will conduct the annual sale of flower and vegetable plants on the church grounds at 7 p.m. D.S.T. A home baking sale will also feature the event.

Mission Bale Assembled

On Monday afternoon, several members of All Saints' W.A. met in the parish rooms to assemble the annual mission bale which goes to W.A. House, Toronto, for distribution to Indian schools and white settlers in western Canada. It was a very large collection of new and used clothing, a baby's complete layette, new quilts and other articles. New goods were valued at $45.

Crafts Interest Many at Fair

The rugging and smocking groups of Kingscrafts Guild can point with pride to the success of their displays and demonstration work at the Spring Fair, Richmond Hill, sponsored by the Evening Guild of St. Mary's Anglican Church, April 19.

Held in the public school, the large classroom where the hobby show took place was effectively decorated in the spring theme. Each of the local groups had its special section. Forty pieces of beautifully smocked dresses, small boys' outfits, ladies' blouses, captured the interest of spectators all afternoon. The King and Laskay smockers took turns in groups demonstrating the work, answering inquiries on designs, patterns, colorings and materials. And some individual orders were taken.

Mrs. Whatley Finch, convenor, and Mrs. Austin Rumble were wearing their nylon smocked blouses and young Janet Mary Finch modelled a blue dress, intricately smocked by her mother. Those who took part were Mrs. Finch, Mrs. Nelson Thompson, Mrs. Norman Egan, Mrs. Austin Rumble, Mrs. George Harvey, Miss Helen Hunter, Mrs. Earle Scott and Mrs. Charles Hately.

In a central booth were the hand hooked rugs, chair seats, coasters, bags, etc. Mrs. J. P. Norris and Mrs. Gordon Wells were hooking rugs. Mrs. Norris explained how discarded nylon stockings are bleached and redyed and how the Kingcrafts special draw rug was designed and made of the nylons. She told how discarded woollen and balbriggan underwear can be dyed and used. The ladies sold tickets on the special rug to be drawn at Kingcrafts Fair on June 4.

The groups appreciated the invitation of the Evening Guild to take part in the show. The fair was officially opened by Billie Button, (Mrs. Angus MacDonald) author of "I Married an Artist", who lives on Bayview Avenue. She too was interested in the work of the King groups, and admired their displays.

Final Bingo, April 30

The 12th and final bingo of the season, sponsored by King legion ladies' auxiliary, will be held on Wednesday, April 30, in King City Masonic hall. It is termed the "Business Man's Bingo", because prizes are being donated by local business men who have been approached for vouchers, cash or $2.00 prize articles. When the awards are made, the names of donors will be announced. The jackpot, which has never once "jacked" at any of the past 11 bingos, amounts to $36. As this is the first time the auxiliary has sought personal prize donations in the two seasons it has carried on, officials are looking forward to a good response from bingo patrons.
